Republican Candidate Says Poorest Pay Most Because of New Deal's "Cockeyed" Tax Legislation—Promises Repeal of "Vicious" Policies If Elected — Warns Living Beyond Income Spells Doom—Calls for Government's Return To Family System of Bookkeeping.

ABOARD LONDON SPECIAL, En Route to Topeka, Kan., Aug. 27 — Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican nominee for President, was speeding Westward through Illinois to his Topeka home today, after having arraigned the Roosevelt administration at Buffalo, for wasteful extravagance and spendthrift generosity in its financial program.

The Governor was tremendously pleased with the reception given him on his initial campaign tour through Western Pennsylvania and New York. Scores of Republican leaders informed him he would carry both States in November, pointing to the enthusiasm of his audiences as proof of his popularity with the electorate, in the East.

Landon was scheduled for 18 appearances from the rear platform of his train during the day and early night in towns and cities of Illinois and Missouri. A major stop was scheduled for Springfield, Ill., where he will lay a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

He will reach his Topeka home just before midnight. In Buffalo, where he delivered the third major address of his Eastern tour, Landon assailed the Roosevelt administration for piling up deficits, spending above its income, soaking the poor with concealed taxes, and loading future generations with huge debt burdens.

Landon specifically pledged repeal of the Federal tax on undistributed corporate earnings if elected President. He charged this tax law was the "most cockeyed piece of tax legislation ever imposed in a modern country."

BUFFALO, Aug. 27—Governor Alf M. Landon's address here last night follows in full text:

Tonight I want to talk about the financial problems of our Federal Government and their effect upon us as individuals. In other words, I'm going to talk about our Government as a spender of part of the money we work so hard to earn. This is a proper approach to the question, in my judgment, because the Government has no money except the money it gets from us.

There are some people who seem to believe that the Government can create money. That is not true. All it can create are promises to pay money. This is what it does when it issues paper money or sells bonds. In principle, this is similar to what we do when we open a charge account at a store. We get something now and promise to pay for it later. If we charge more things than we can pay for, our promises to pay become worthless. The same is true of Government.

So, if we are to be realistic in our thinking about Government finance, we must think of the Government as almost a member of our family—a member to whom day by day, week by week, year by year we must give part of what we receive in our pay envelope or part of the crops we raise. We must remember that every time the Government spends a dollar, that dollar will have to be paid by us or we must pass the debt on to be paid by our children. No parents like to leave their children a heritage of debts and mortgages. But the creation of a staggering public debt closes the door of opportunity to the youth of America, just as certainly as a staggering private debt. We must face the issue squarely. The present Administration's daily mounting deficits are closing the door of opportunity to your children and to my children.

We must not lose sight of the fact that a public debt is just as much a liability to each and every individual as a private debt. The fundamental principles of Government finance are exactly the same common sense principles that we follow in the handling of our own family finances. So long as our Government follows these principles our people will prosper. They will be able to weather depression, drought and other disasters. But if our Government disregards these principles, it squanders our resources and destroys the public credit.

Now, what are these principles? In broadest terms there are four of them. The Government must guard and preserve its source of income.

The Government must make sure that it gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends.

The Government must not get in the habit of spending more than it receives.

Finally, the Government must prepare for the rainy day.

These, in brief, are the four great principles which a prudent, foresighted head of a family follows in the handling of his own finances. They are the same four great principles which a prudent, foresighted Government must follow if it is to meet the financial demands made upon it by an increasingly complex civilization.

Now let us examine each of the four principles in turn:

The first is the question of guarding and preserving the source of income. Fundamentally this is a question of the fairness of the kind of taxes that are levied. Are they direct taxes levied according to our ability to pay, or are they indirect taxes levied without regard to our ability to contribute to the support of the Government?

It has always been my belief that the Government should raise the major portion of its revenue from direct taxes levied on the net incomes of individuals and corporations. When this is done everyone pays for his fair share and knows just how much the Government is costing him.

I have constantly worked for legislation in Kansas to prevent concealment of the cost of government. On the other hand, if the major portion of the Government's income is obtained from indirect and hidden taxes—taxes upon such things as food, clothing, gasoline and cigarettes—then the main burden falls upon those of small income and the cost of government is hidden. In this case, it is the wage earner, the salaried worker, the farmer, and the small businessman, who have to pay most of the bill. Now, let us turn to the record and see just who is paying the cost of our Government.

What do the figures of the Treasury Department show? They show that in the year 1932, 59 cents out of every dollar collected by our Federal Government was secured from direct taxes. The other 41 cents was collected from indirect and hidden taxes, paid, for the most part, by people with incomes of $25 a week or less.

That was for 1932. Four years later what do we find? We find that 51 cents out of every dollar collected by the Federal Government came from hidden taxes.

In other words, the share of the cost of Government falling mainly on those with incomes of $25 a week or less has increased 25 per cent during the three years of the present Administration.

Lightning Strikes Twice At Yardley; Hits Cow, Tree

YARDLEY, Aug. 27 — Yardley was visited by a severe electrical storm on Tuesday evening, when two places within a radius of a block were struck. About ten feet from the home of David H. Anderson, lightning struck a tree, traveled down several feet, glanced off to another tree, going down the center, ripping the tree open, and the bolt entered the ground, where it made a large hole. Bark was thrown several feet, piling a large amount on a porch at the West of the house. The bolt entered the house, it is supposed, through an open window in the kitchen of the home, sending sparks in every direction, although no apparent damage has been discovered, with the exception of a number of blown fuses.

A few hundred feet up Delaware avenue, a cow in the pasture on the farm of Frank Robinson, was killed at about 10 o'clock. The cow was with a herd, but apparently no damage was suffered by the other animals.

LIBERTY is SECURITY

(New York American, August 26, 1936)

Governor Landon gave expression to a particularly timely thought in his West Middlesex address. Rejecting the New Deal theory that America cannot have both SECURITY and FREEDOM, but must yield one for the other, he challenged:

"Let us not surrender to any such counsel of despair. Let us not abandon our determination to win security and abundance without sacrificing any of our precious heritage of freedom."

To the patriotic mind, if the campaign started with this thought and ended with it, the indictment thus presented against the Roosevelt Administration IS SUFFICIENT TO WARRANT ITS OVERTHROW.

The doctrine that America can only offer security to its people by depriving them of their liberty offends the good sense and patriotic principles of every self-respecting citizen.

The history of civilization teaches one valuable lesson—THAT NO VESTIGE OF HUMAN SECURITY WAS EVER PURCHASED BY THE SACRIFICE OF LIBERTY.

If Americans ever have to make a choice between freedom and security, THEY WILL DEFEND THEIR LIBERTIES. LIBERTY ITSELF IS SECURITY.

The first serious challenge to this undisputed axiom of American patriotism has been presented by the Roosevelt New Deal, which would have Americans believe there is security in the chains of Federal regimentation.

For that offense against American traditions, if for nothing else, the Roosevelt Administration DESERVES THE REPUTATION DESTINED FOR IT IN NOVEMBER.

Double Funeral Planned For Mother and Daughter

A double funeral is arranged for the mother and daughter who met death when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a truck at Wheatshere, Tuesday afternoon.

The funeral service for Mrs. Lena Guntz, 70, and her daughter, Mrs. Lillian K. Barger, 39, will be held at a funeral home, 2013 E. Susquehanna avenue, Philadelphia, Saturday at one p. m. Relatives and friends, and members of St. John's German Reformed Church, and all other organizations with which they were affiliated, are invited to attend. Interment in Forest Hills Cemetery will be private. Friends may call Friday evening at the funeral home.

Mrs. Guntz was the wife of Anthony Guntz, who sustained a broken nose, Monday, when he fell in the bathtub at his home. A second daughter, Miss Lena M. Guntz, 35, driver of the car, remains at Harriman Hospital, where she is being treated for painful injuries suffered in the same accident, and Mrs. Barger's two children, Shirley, 7, and Walter, 5, are also at the hospital. The boy had a fracture of the left leg, and the girl an incised wound of the scalp.

The fatal accident is said to have occurred when two wheels of the car operated by Miss Guntz left the road, after she went around a truck traveling in the same direction. It is then claimed the driver found it difficult to mount the highway, the shoulder being a few inches below the concrete, and the car crashed into the rear of a parked truck. Mrs. Guntz was instantly killed, her jugular vein being severed; and Mrs. Barger died shortly after in Harriman Hospital, her skull having been fractured.

CERTIFICATE CAMPAIGN NOW UNDER WAY HERE

Solicitors Organized and Begin Active Canvass of Landon Supporters

DOLLAR CONTRIBUTIONS

Every man and woman in Bristol interested in the Landon-for-President movement that is sweeping the country, will be canvassed during the next few days by authorized solicitors who will take subscriptions for membership in the "Dollar Certificate Campaign."

Mrs. Mary B. Kraft, chairman of the drive in Bristol, has organized teams with captains in every voting district in the borough and the women are very much enthused over the work. They will visit every house where there are Landon supporters.

Miss Eleanor K. Worthington, of Hartsville, is chairman of the drive in Bucks County.

"What we want to put across is the fact that we would like all people interested to have their dollars ready when the solicitors call," it was pointed out.

Each solicitor will carry an identification card. Throughout the entire United States, in every city, town and hamlet, a similar campaign is being conducted.

Every subscriber to the "Dollar Certificate Campaign" will receive an appropriate certificate which bears the explanation of the campaign and a "Landon for President" button. Bucks county residents will receive their certificates from the Philadelphia headquarters.

It is hoped that the campaign in Bristol will be completed within a few days.

The money raised throughout the country from the "Dollar Certificate Campaign" will be divided 50-50 between the State and National Republican committees.

State Highway Rushes Work To Rebuild Shoulders

State Highway Department, after a lapse of nearly six months, yesterday resumed the work of rebuilding the shoulders of Bristol Pike, near Wheatshere. An accident occurred at Wheatshere Tuesday afternoon in which two women were killed, another seriously injured and two children hurt. Motorists say the accident was due to the low shoulders of the Highway, on which work was started in the early Spring but never completed.

A crew of State Highway employees, a big road scraper, and a fleet of trucks began work at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, 24 hours after the tragedy occurred which snuffed out two lives, and an hour and a half after the Courier, through which motorists voiced their protest, appeared on the street.

The men worked until dark, last night. A fleet of trucks hauled gravel to fill in the shoulders and thus build them up to the concrete road level. In some places the drop measured six inches.

The shoulders of the Bristol Pike, between Morrisville and Torresdale, are in very dangerous condition, claim the motorists, and are likely to be the cause of other accidents.

In the early Spring the State Highway Department scraped these shoulders and hauled away the dirt. They were filled in with tarred-stone for a portion of the distance but then the work stopped. This left the shoulders from three to six inches below the level of the road. Wheels of automobiles going off the concrete are caught and motorists experience difficulty in controlling their vehicles.

Many Pay Last Respects To George (Doc) Mackenzie

LANGHORNE, Aug. 27—Several hundred friends and interested spectators viewed the body of the late George ("Doc") Mackenzie at the Horner funeral home last evening from seven to nine o'clock. A continual stream of cars came and went during the entire evening.

At seven o'clock when the doors were opened there was already a line of friends waiting to pay their last respects to the Eddington race driver, who was killed as the result of an accident on a Wisconsin race track last Sunday.

A local borough officer and a State Highway patrolman were on duty to keep traffic on Bellevue avenue moving. Cars came from many sections of the country. Several of the late Mackenzie's race driver friends were present.

The body rested in the front room of the Horner funeral home and was surrounded with large beautiful sprays of flowers. Friends were heard to murmur at the beauty and magnificence of the floral display.

Dressed in a white suit, the deceased appeared very natural.

One small, but handsome bouquet of flowers was among the tributes. Attached to it was a silk ribbon with the wording, "Uncle Doc." This decoration was placed near the top of the casket and was said to have been a token of esteem and respect from some of the race driver's young relatives.

As late as 9:30 cars were still arriving with friends. One car, bearing an Indiana license plate, arrived at 10 p. m. The driver said that he had just arrived from Indianapolis, but his identity was not disclosed.

Service will be this afternoon from the home of the wife of the deceased, Mrs. Verna Mather Mackenzie, 219 West Maple avenue, Langhorne, with burial in William Penn Cemetery, Somerton. The service, which will be private, will be under the direction of the Rev. Walter Humphries, pastor of the Langhorne M. E. Church.

REBUILD THE SHOULDERS

A demand that the State Highway Department at once start rebuilding the shoulders of highways in this section is made by many motorists who realize the danger of neglecting this work.

There is no just reason why this character of work should be neglected, claim the motorists and their contention is right. Not only are the shoulders of the Bristol Pike in very bad condition but the shoulders of numerous other state highways in this area are in like condition.

On narrow highways over which there is heavy traffic, it is a frequent occurrence for motorists to have the wheels of their vehicles slip off the concrete, while passing other vehicles. Once off the edge of the concrete the motorist is confronted with a serious problem in again getting his machine back onto the hard surface.

It is contended by those complaining that either rank incompetence or careless neglect are the only things to which the condition of the road shoulders can be attributed. Money is being lavishly spent on everything else in the state and boondoggling is being generally indulged in. Here is a worthwhile project and one which is necessary in order to safeguard the traveling public, yet nothing is done about it.

Hundreds of man hours are being spent on a project which is not nearly as urgent as the rebuilding of the shoulders of state highways.

ANOTHER ALL-TIME MYSTERY

If it lives up to its promise, one of the true detective magazines is about to name the true culprit in the Lindbergh case. The revelation is being offered serially, and the criminal up to now is designated only as a Mr. X. It is true the author enjoyed no official standing at the trial, but he spent a great deal of time trying to see people who had, and who seemed unimpressed by his claims to superior information. It is on his original views concerning the writing in the ransom correspondence that he founds his identification of the criminal.

We shall have to listen to many such in the years to come, for no case can ever die which stirs the emotions as deeply as did this, particularly if a question of identity is in any wise involved. There is a school of intuitive detection which holds it was not the Lindbergh child which was found, and this misgiving is in line with an old tradition. It was not John Wilkes who was killed when fleeing the burning barn, nor Jesse James who was shot while hanging a picture in a parlor. Jesse James, in fact, is still about and announcing himself to all who will listen, and so is Charley Ross. And some 15 years hence, a blond youth of about the age to have been 18 months old in March, 1932, is bound to be produced as the real Lindbergh child.

Of something that Hilaire Belloc was pleased to regard as true, he said simply, "I believe it because it is a superstition." It is intolerable to many that things should be what they seem. Who was "Richard IV" and who wrote Shakespeare's plays? How did Cleopatra really die and who was the Man in the Iron Mask? Was the Dauphin lost and who were the parents of Marie Corelli? Was it Joan of Arc who perished at the stake and did one sailor of the "Marie Celeste" survive? Who was Jack the Ripper? The Lindbergh "mystery" joins a classic list.

FASHION PARADE

Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service
By ORRY-KELLY

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Detail is the costume designer's field day. It is in buttons and braid, stitching and piping that he really has his outlet for originality. There are certain rules he must follow regarding the world's general style trend . . . but as long as his detail is in good taste he's barred by scarcely a single "don't."

A new and attractive trim for tailored accessories is the cobbler stitch. Rosalind Marquis has a black felt hat, black snude gloves and bag all stitched in a heavy cream thread after the manner of a cobbler. Worn with a mannish suit, the contrasting stitching gains importance.

Cellophane isn't just something we peel off a package any more. It has now become an important item for trimming. It is amazingly tough and practical. Made into braid it is being used for simple embroidery work on solid colored dresses. The cellophane can be dyed any color and is woven into some novelty materials at the factory. Ann Sheridan wears a turban shot with cellophane in "Sing Me A Love Song." We saw a fir-green crepe dress in which the circular skirt was embroidered with matching cellophane and the material was repeated at the neck where it had been worked into a flat bow.

We used the new applique revival to advantage in a white cocktail dress for Margaret Lindsay. The jacket was tailored with a brief, outstanding peplum. A leaf design in dubonnet was appliqued just below the waistline where slit pockets were inserted. Then the dubonnet was carried out again in applique on the square shoulder line and used in tiny, upstanding scallops all the way down the full-length sleeve.

A similar applique motif was carried out in a beige wool suit of Beverly Roberts. In this case the jacket buttons up like a Hiedelberg schoolboy's and four slit pockets are inserted in many angular leaf designs in brown applique.

Military braid is not amiss for tailored suits; the favorite use for buttons is straight down the front of the dress; fur trimming is tops; kid piping in contrasting colors will be seen on many sport dresses; matching capes to silk dresses are often entirely edged in narrow ruffling of self-material; beads, sequins and metal will be used to embroider formal clothes; collars and pockets will do well to be corded and many a panel will be cire-edged.

Regular use of the Courier Classified column is economical and profitable.

They are paying far more than their rightful share of the cost of Government. Any housewife can tell you this, because the housewife knows, better than anybody else, how the mounting cost of living is curtailing the comforts of the home. And you cannot long fool her with the pretense that only the rich will pay.

This increase has come despite the fact that the tax rates on incomes of individuals and corporations have been raised. It has come despite the fact that they are paying far more actual money into the Treasury than they did in 1932. In other words, the larger payments by well-to-do individuals and corporations have not been enough to cover the waste and extravagance of this Administration. What is the result? Those of our citizens with small incomes have had to pay an increased proportion of the cost of the Federal Government.

And just how have those with small incomes paid more? We find that they have paid in a thousand different ways. Take bread, for example. When we buy a loaf of bread for 10 cents we pay about 8 cents for the bread. The other two cents goes for taxes. If we smoke a package of cigarettes a day we pay $22 a year in taxes. So it is in all our spending. We cannot buy a stitch of clothing without the Government's taking in taxes a part of the money we pay out. We cannot buy an ounce of food at our grocery store without being taxed to support the Government. We cannot go to a movie, or to a baseball game, or ride in an automobile without this invisible tax arm of government reaching out and taking a part of the money we spend. This has been a growing tendency of government in recent years.

Most of these taxes, it is true, are hidden so deeply that we cannot see them. But the taxes are there just as truly as they are in the sales tax on gasoline. They cost just as much, and are just as real, as they would be if they were taken right out of our pay envelopes. These hidden taxes—Federal, State and local—amount to about 20 cents out of every dollar we spend. In the case of the Federal Government alone they amount to over $5 a month for every family.

It is in this way that the Government's financial policies affect us as individuals. The more the Government wastes, the more money it takes to take from us. The more it takes from us the less food and clothing we can buy for ourselves, the less we have for the education of our children and the less we have left to set aside for meeting emergencies—for the building of homes, for improvement of farms, for the construction of factories.

In short every dollar that the Government takes from us in taxes means just one dollar less for us—a dollar that we might use to buy things, the production of which would create jobs.

There is no better illustration of all this than the so-called surplus tax bill jammed through Congress this spring.

One practical effect of this tax law is to prevent a corporation from using its earnings in the business. It must pay them out in dividends. In consequence, earnings no longer provide funds for making needed improvements, for replacing out-of-date equipment, and for additions to the plant.

Now what does this mean to a man looking for a job? It means less chance of finding work. There will not be those jobs that come from the gradual growth of our small businesses, from the replacement of equipment, and from plant expansion.

For those workers who already have jobs the effect of tax law is just as bad. Because of this legislation it is no longer possible for a business, except at unbearable cost, to build up a reserve for meeting future losses. In other words, a business organization, unless it already has reserves, is put on a hand-to-mouth basis. This means that it can exist only so long as it can make a profit. Once trade slackens to the point where the business cannot make a profit, it is lost. Not having a reserve to fall back upon, its lot is bankruptcy, and the lot of the workers is unemployment.

There is one other point in this connection I would like to mention: During the depression, private industry paid out over twenty billion dollars more than it took in—twenty billion dollars that helped to cushion the depression and keep employees working. This expenditure was possible only because of reserves created during prosperous years.

Yet by careless, ill-advised tax legislation this present Administration is, in effect, forbidding a restoration of the reserves exhausted by the depression. The sponsors of this tax law may have thought it was a smart way to appear to "soak the rich." Actually it has no relation to "soaking the rich."

What it does is protect the big fellow who still has a reserve, and tie a millstone around the neck of the little fellow.

This legislation prevents the small business man from expanding by the usual method of plowing earnings back into his organization. It is making harder and harder the re-employment of many of those at present out of work. And it is jeopardizing the job of every man and woman who today is working for a business corporation.

This is the most cockeyed piece of tax legislation ever imposed in a modern country and if I am elected I shall recommend repeal of this vicious method of taxation.

Whole Structure Needs Overhauling

Let me add, the revision of this bill is only one of the changes needed in our tax system. Our whole tax structure, Federal and State, needs overhauling.

This leads us to the second principle which I have listed—that we must make sure that our Government gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends. By that I mean that we must get our money's worth for the taxes we pay. We must not lose sight of the fact that it is our money that the Administration is wasting.

There are many cases in which it is quite obvious that the country, as a whole, gets more for the dollars spent by the Government than it would if we kept the money and spent it ourselves. I refer to such expenditures as are necessary to provide adequate protection, to maintain our courts, and to enforce our laws. These expenditures are essential if we are to live in an orderly society. They help us to maintain our political and economic liberties and to enjoy the fruits of our own labor.

For these expenditures, if they are made efficiently and with economy, we do get a dollar's worth for every dollar we spend.

Until a few years ago, this type of expenditure made up the bulk of our Federal expenses. Under the present Administration, that is no longer true. Today, the Administration is spending money for almost every conceivable thing. It is spending even for the necessary things in ways we cannot afford—in reckless ways which are beyond our means—which would never appeal to anyone who has had to work for his money—to anyone who has had to face the problem of making both ends meet—to anyone who has had to see to it that his bills get paid. The Republican Party believes in being generous in the spending of money for relief and emergency purposes, but it believes that these funds should be spent without waste and absurdities.

Charges U. S. Lives In "Fool's Paradise"

This brings us to our third principle—that the Government, like the rest of us, should not get the habit of spending more than it receives. The present Administration seems to have entirely disregarded this principle. It is paying half of its bills with borrowed money. The truth is we are living in a fool's paradise—far beyond our income.

We all know this cannot continue indefinitely, because we have known persons who have tried it. We have seen them go along for a while with apparent ease, buying first one thing and then another which they could not afford. And then we have seen them wind up "on the rocks."

Whenever a Government continues to live beyond its income, it will suffer the same fate. For a while there will seem to be no end to the money which the Government can spend. But in due time the day of reckoning must come. Someone, sometime, will have to pay the bill.

How is it that the Government has been able to follow such a will-o'-the-wisp financial policy? It is because the public has not been properly informed. We have been told that all this extravagance will be paid for by "soaking the rich." This is not possible. The figures of our Treasury Department show that if we confiscated all incomes in excess of $5000 a year, it would not be enough to pay for the cost of our Federal Government.

Do not think that we have been getting something for nothing as the result of the huge Government spending of the past three years. Some of the debt, it is true, has been shifted to the wealthy, but the major portion of the debt, both the principal and the interest, is being charged up against ourselves and our children. There is no other group to whom we can shift the burden and it is a burden that gets heavier and heavier every day that the present wasteful policies of the Administration are continued.

Would Prepare For Rainy Day

The final principle the Government must follow, is to prepare for the rainy day. In our own families we all recognize the importance of doing this and we try to build up individual reserves.

In the case of the Government the equivalent of these reserves is the ability to borrow. It protects this ability by keeping its financial house in the best possible order.

How does it do this? In periods of good times, the Government pays off its debts, so that if necessary it will be able to borrow again. It keeps its taxes as low as possible, so that there will be a reserve of tax-paying ability which can be called upon to meet emergencies. It permits its citizens to prosper, so that they will not have to go to the Government for aid at the first breath of ill-wind. These are the policies to be followed in good times. In bad times certain changes become necessary. But a financially responsible Administration never loses sight of the fact that it acts at all times as a trustee of the people.

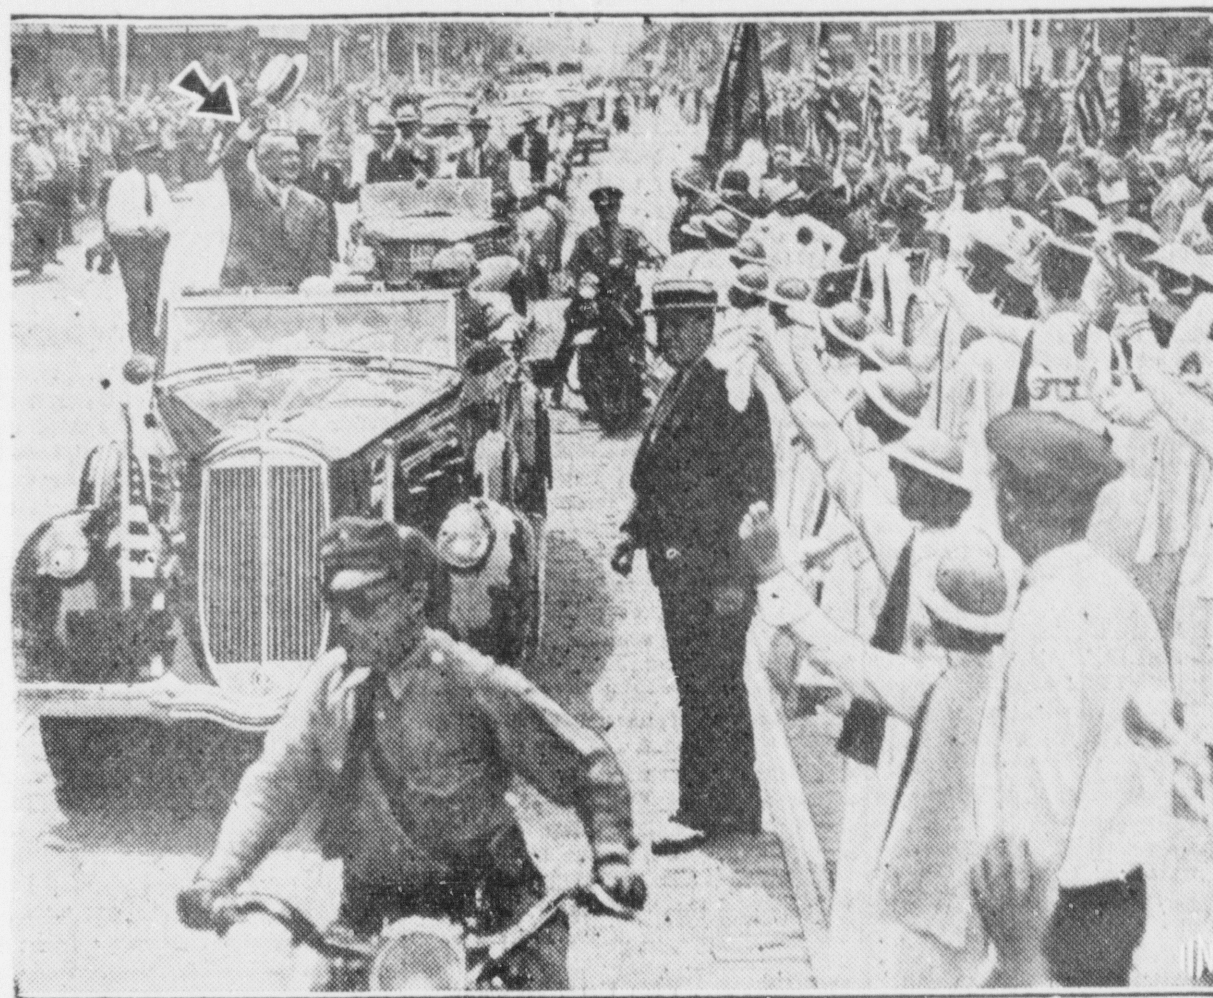

It watches every dollar it spends to be sure that it is used in the way which will do the most good. It borrows no more than is absolutely necessary, for it knows that if we exhaust our borrowing capacity today, our children will be helpless should they be called on to face an emergency.

In my judgment these are the common sense principles that our Federal Government should follow. Unfortunately they are not the principles which have been followed by the present Administration.

In spite of the repeated assurances about a balanced budget—in October, 1932, after the banking holiday in 1933, in January, 1934, in January, 1935, and in January, 1936, what has happened?

The Administration has continued to increase expenditures, even for the regular departments, and carry us deeper and deeper into debt. The latest assurance volunteered only thirteen days ago, repeats the old story—"Business is improving, revenue increasing, no new taxes will be necessary to balance the budget." How can anyone really believe this, in the face of the record of the present Administration?

It has piled deficit upon deficit. It has increased our public debt until today the total is equal to two-thirds of the annual income of every man, woman and child in the United States.

It has created an atmosphere of spendthrift generosity that has made it impossible for it to restore economy in Government expenditures.

It has acted as if it were willing to give the whole Treasury away, trying to enrich everybody by impoverishing everybody else.

The time has come to put an end to these policies. We must establish a system of simple, honest bookkeeping. We must return to the principles which we follow in the handling of our own finances.

This will give us a Government able to meet every reasonable demand upon it: a Government fully prepared to assume its increasing financial responsibilities; a Government able to meet the needs that arise from any emergency; a Government that will leave our children a fair chance to solve the problems that arise in their time.

That is the kind of government we must have if we are to get rid of unemployment by giving our workers real jobs at good pay. I know that accomplishing all this is not a task that can be completed overnight, and I make no such promise. We have huge responsibilities that we must continue to meet. But with the help of a courageous country it is a task that can and will be done. That is my pledge to the American people.

WHAT'S NEWS IN HOME DECORATIONS

Suggestions That Make a House a Home

A painted floor is more satisfactory in a basement playroom than a covered one because of the natural moisture. Dark green or dark red are the best colors.

Venetian blinds are in good taste in almost any type of house. They were known to have been used in this country as early as 1716. The blinds should match the walls and woodwork. Ivory or white are in the best taste.

When hanging curtains and drapes on a group of three windows, they should be treated as one large window. Glass curtains are finished sill length on each window. Draperies are hung at each end of the group with a top valance of the same material across the top.

Small white colonial houses can be given added distinction by painting the door a peacock blue and using window boxes of the same color. Door knockers can be made in most blacksmith or iron works shops that will bespeak the personality of the household. Such knockers are not expensive unless the design is intricate.

Carpets and rugs of the same color in all rooms gives an effect of spaciousness not possible when the rug pattern in each room is different.

A book shelf may be built on a closet door by either building out from the door or by recessing. In this way, ample space is given for books as well as for clothes in the downstairs hall or room.

A shelf built in the kitchen near the stove to hold the electric mixer, percolator, and toaster is a great convenience. The shelf can be built on metal brackets, painted the color of the room, and sheathed to make it water and heat proof.

When wishing privacy in a room

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

RISEING prices on dairy products should not be permitted to cut down the average family's consumption of milk, cheese and butter as these foods are particularly valuable for health. Evaporated milk is economical for cooking purposes and is equally as wholesome as fresh milk. If necessary to cut down, a substitute may be used for butter.

In general, prices on most foods are no higher than last week and a slight decrease has been noted in beef and lamb chops, young chickens, eggs, apples, green beans, lima beans, cabbage and new potatoes. Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

that connects by French doors, have the glass silvered, thus giving a mirror effect. The other side of the glass may then be covered with a glass curtain. The mirror effect is most pleasing in a dark hall.

Hooked rugs will wear longer if made of wool. Cotton does not wear as well, nor does it clean as easily. Old wool blankets make beautiful rugs and may be dyed to fit into any color scheme.

A most satisfactory refreshment cart may be made for the garden from an old push cart. The cart is painted green or in some brilliant combination of color. Towel rods are nailed in place to hold glasses. A large wooden box is made to hold ice and at one end a double tray, also of wood, will hold sandwiches or cakes. Decide upon your needs in the refreshment cart, then fit them into place. Hold them in place.

FORTY WINKS TAKES TO TRACK RAPIDLY, HE SAYS

By Lou Bindman
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(INS)—Mrs. Payne Whitney, one of the leading ladies of the turf who operates a racing establishment under the name of Greentree Stable, has in her possession a two-year-old colt which on occasions has demonstrated he can turn into a cloud of dust and whisk away.

This youngster, named Forty Winks, was all by himself, taking to the track rapidly and finishing like a jack-rabbit, 10 lengths in front of Flying Scot. At no stage of the contest was the issue close.

The Saratoga Special marked the second victory for Forty Winks in four starts and considerable credit for his impressive showing is laid to the fact that the colt wore blinkers. In his previous three engagements, the Greentree youngster ran without blinkers and, although displaying a high turn of speed, it was nothing compared with the zip he uncorked in the Special.

By the simple use of these eye-shades, the colt was better able to control himself, affording him a clear front view of the running strip and obliterating any disconcerting object which might flash past the corner of his eye. Many other horses have been known to show improvement with the aid of blinkers, some of these thoroughbreds even balking at the sight of a bright handkerchief.

Forty Winks is a son of Twink and Alicia W. His sire was a speedy racer in his day but an unlucky one. Twink was successful as a juvenile but in the following season went bad and wasn't much use as a racer after that. He was subsequently sent into stud service and is proving to be a successful sire.

The Belmont Futurity, richest juvenile stake in the world, is one of Forty Winks' next major objectives and if he should succeed in carrying it off, the colt will take rank as one of the early winter book favorites for Kentucky Derby honors next year. Although many crack youngsters have represented her in the Futurity, Mrs. Whitney has never succeeded in capturing the engagement. With Forty Winks slated to bear her colors, her chances in this year's renewal appear greatly enhanced.

The Belmont Futurity will be the prize offering of Belmont Park's late meeting which will run from September 17 to October 3. The best two-year-olds in the country are due to step in that number.

PETE SIVESS OF PHILLIES CALLED ANOTHER "DIZZY"

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27—(INS)—Have the Phillies another Dizzy Dean in the making?

This is the question that manager

Qualifiers for National Amateur Golf Crown

One hundred and ninety-seven amateurs battled it out on the fairways of the Winged Foot Links at Mamaroneck, N. Y., for 31 qualifying places for the National Amateur golf crown. Frank Strafaci (right), public links player, led the field with a fine 138. Ray Billows (left), the caddy's hero, set a new course record with a brilliant 66. T. Suffera Taitel (center), society golfer, shot his way into a tie for third place.

Wilson and his mates ask themselves every time they watch Pete Sivess, young right-handed pitcher from Dickinson College.

Sivess is a big fellow, six feet one inch, and weighs about 190 pounds. It would be jumping to conclusions to say that he has the "stuff" that Dizzy Dean possesses on the mound. It took Dean four years to reach the majors. Sivess has made it in two months.

But Sivess without any preliminary minor league training has all the eccentricities that make Dean the colorful, popular twirler he is.

Like the big righthander of the Cardinals, Sivess believes that opposing batters are lucky to get a hit off him. In a game against Pittsburgh a few weeks ago the Pirates spanked his slants quite freely.

As he walked to the bench after the inning his mates expected him to be a bit downcast and were prepared to cheer him up with such bits of verbal salve as "Those Waner boys hit all the good pitchers."

Sivess beat them to the draw, however. Grabbing a towel to wipe the perspiration off his face, he growled, "Those guys were sure lucky today. If I had've had my stuff they wouldn't have made a foul."

When Pete first joined the team, Manager Wilson sent him into the fray as a relief pitcher against the Cardinals and Dizzy Dean and turned in a fine job. At the end of the eighth inning Wilson looked around for a pinch hitter.

Sivess looked chagrined. "Ain't you going to let me have a poke?" (chance to hit), he asked.

"Against Dean?" asked the surprised manager.

"Who's he?" countered Sivess. "I hit against better pitchers in college than he is and got my base hits."

Later on as the club moved into Cincinnati Sivess again drew a relief assignment and came through in fine style. That night at the hotel an admirer asked him how he liked the major league.

"Oh, it's just a breeze," he replied. "But I don't like the steaks in this league."

The youngster is a Russian, the son of parents who cannot speak a word of English. He attended Dickinson College where he made a splendid record in baseball and at the end of his college career was signed by the Phillies. To date his work has been in relief roles and, although he possesses a fine fast ball, good curve and, as the best players say, is fortified with plenty of "moxie," he is not quite ready for a starting assignment.

A CARPET OF SMOKE

One of the best defenses for use in the event of another war (and we sincerely trust there will be no more) is a smoke screen laid down by airplanes.

Through the use of this new contribution of science, whole cities can be made invisible from above, thereby insuring safety, to a degree, to the citizens below.

With whole areas blotted out by these carpets of smoke it will make it exceedingly difficult for the enemy to spot their objective. The clouds of smoke give protection to the earth and people below.

You, too, can have your own smoke screen! By insuring YOUR life you are setting up a screen of protection for your family. Keep peace in your family by taking a policy today . . . tomorrow may be too late!

The Colorado Colossus

By BURNLEY

Everett Marshall, a blond giant who tips the scales at 218 pounds without an ounce of excess avoirdupois on his massive frame, is one of the many claimants to the wrestling title at present. This Adonis from the Rockies is touted by his manager, "Svengali" Billy Sandow, as the man to drag the mat game out of the slough of despond in which it is at present wallowing, due to the "fixing" practiced by the various wrestling cliques in control of most of the grapplers.

Marshall is touted as an ideal type of American athlete, a college graduate who is exemplary in his habits, a total abstainer from liquor and tobacco, a family man, father of two children—in short, according to Sandow, he is probably the most clean-cut fellow ever to hold the title.

Everett claims to be strictly a leveler on the mat, and it is his professed aim to stamp out the "chain-store" crooked wrestling that has made the grappling game a laughing stock.

Everett's wife is usually at the ringside whenever her husband wrestles, and is his chief rooter. Marshall's hardest match, he says, was with a bear which he raised from a cub on his father's Colorado ranch. Apparently, that was one wrestling match that was on the level, anyway.
